Are you looking for a divorce lawyer near you? Located in Nashville, Tennessee, Burdine Law Firm, PLLC, has spent nearly fifteen years dedicated exclusively to dealing with family law and matters of divorce. With a tricky subject like divorce, there is only one surefire way to guarantee the best possible outcome and that is to act fast.

Burdine understands that a good attorney doesn't take on a case and then just sits back and does nothing. A good attorney begins working on achieving an outcome as soon as they possibly can. Whether that means acting fast to help a client to win a child custody case or working to ensure a reasonable alimony outcome. Practicing family law also means dealing with issues focused on children. Some couples will get into legal battles over the custody of their children, while others need the helping hand of an experienced attorney to help them get approved for adoption.

Practicing family law also means dealing with issues that are less exciting than the rough experience of divorce or the truly invigorating prospect of adding an adoptive child to your household. Issues like prenuptial or postnuptial agreements might not have the same kind of excitement to them but they can still be confusing, complicated, and messy things to figure out, and working with Burdine Law Firm, PLLC, can make the whole process a lot simpler.

Burdine has the added benefit of having been in your shoes herself, so she knows exactly how challenging family law cases can be and she is prepared to offer the type of personalized attention and care that gives you the feeling of being supported that you need at a time like this in your life. Our values are family values, values like trust, attentive listening, and the compassionate support necessary for you and your family to get through this and start to heal.
